

Spring Quarter Abroad Awards

UC Davis Study Abroad is pleased to announce study abroad awards for participants in Spring Quarter Abroad 2018 programs.

Eligibility:

The following students are eligible to apply: UC Davis Quarter Abroad participants in Spring 2018 programs (Spain, Japan, Taiwan, UK-London Internship). You must already be enrolled in a 2018 program by the submission deadline; students with incomplete applications will not be considered. You do not have to be eligible for financial aid in order to receive an award.

Responsibility:

If you receive an award you must complete a project (during or after your program) highlighting your study abroad experience. Examples include creating a short video for our website, writing a story for your campus newspaper, presenting a slideshow to a class, etc. Projects may be shared with award donors, faculty, or staff.

To Apply:

Please follow these steps: (1) Log into your Study Abroad account, (2) Click "Search Scholarships" tab, (3) Click "Apply Now", (4) Follow the online instructions and submit a response to the first prompt:

1) How the specific study abroad program you have chosen is related to your academic, personal, or professional goals (700 word limit; please remember to include a title)

The second prompt (below) is optional. Some of the Study Abroad Awards will include financial need as a criteria (others will not):

(2) If you are facing substantial financial barriers to study abroad, please describe them (300 word limit).

Award amounts usually range from $500-$2,000 per student.

Deadline: Wednesday, November 8, 2017

Late applications will not be accepted

Study Abroad Award recipients will be announced via email by: Monday, December 4, 2017

For information about additional scholarship and funding opportunities visit:
studyabroad.ucdavis.edu/students/finances.html

