Call for 2021-22 Proposals: UC Davis Study Abroad Faculty-led Programs

SEMINARS ABROAD

Seminars Abroad are short programs abroad (approx. 2 weeks, 2-6 units) that occur during winter break, right after Spring quarter, or in September, just prior to Fall quarter. Programs are offered as part of the Fall and Spring quarter courses and faculty travel with the students to teach all of the coursework abroad. Supplemental course work may be offered during the Fall or Spring quarter to prepare students for their program abroad, or to extend learning before students depart or after students return from a program abroad.

Although the faculty commitment for Seminars is still serious, the timing may be better for faculty who can't lead programs away from campus in the summer or during academic quarters, or for locales where winter travel is preferable. The timing is also good for students with summer commitments and/or a need to be on campus during the academic quarter, and the cost is lower because there is no additional tuition expense (covered as part of Fall or Spring quarters) and there is a shorter stay abroad.

Please note that because these programs are attached to the quarter, instructional salary is paid by the faculty's home department.

GENERAL INFORMATION

Instructions for the proposal Study Abroad/Away packet can be found on the Global Learning Hub website under Faculty.
